Rivers A Novel

In the tradition of Cormac McCarthy, Larry Brown, and James Lee Burke, Rivers is an enthralling, darkly beautiful novel set in Mississippi against the backdrop of a series of devastating storms that pummeled the American South in the years since Hurricane Katrina. It had been raining for weeks. Maybe months.

The book is written in the first person, from the perspective of Jacquetta (Lady Rivers), and is written in the present tense. For me, these two factors limit the scope of the story. Jacquetta's viewpoint becomes quite tedious at times, although it is successful in depicting the vagaries of life at court in the fifteenth century.
