News writing follows a basic formula. While styles can diverge more dramatically depending on the kind of story—a feature story may look and sound very different than a hard news story—all news stories are cut from the same mold. The first element of news writing is, of course, to deliver the news.

What You Need to Know About News Writing

Well, truth be told, it's all those and more. Becoming a journalist is not just about writing and reporting the news, it's about sifting through the lies that the corrupt and guilty try to feed and give the public information that they really need to know. But before even considering picking up the pen and paper, you have to first understand the elements that makes up journalism in the first place.

News reporting is a type of journalism, typically written or broadcast in news style. Most news is investigated and presented by journalists or news Reporters, and can be distributed to various outlets via news agencies.

Reporting & Editing

Use Present Tense Wherever Possible. TV news is timely as opposed to print news writing that relates a bigger story, putting facts and information into context. In other words, a 6 p.m. newscast must sound fresh and "of the moment." You need to bring the viewer into the news piece as it's unfolding.
